

#36 A thank you note to a 'thing'

// Over 50 days (or so) I am doing Fat Mum Slim's 50 things to blog about challenge - in no particular order.

Today's post is #36 a thank you note to a 'thing' like coffee or trashy tv.

I could say thank you to coffee but thats a bit of a cop out. I say that every morning!

So my thank you is to Foxtel. Best thing ever getting it put on while I'm home all the time. There is so much great trashy TV to watch. When I'm so tired and just want to sit down and chill out without having to think there so many options!

My favourite by far at the moment is Million Dollar Listing (New York). Its so bitchy and trashy!! I think Frederik is maybe my favourite agent! But probably because he reminds me of Mugatu from Zoolander.

Check out this video of the three agents..

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=F-67Wus0AAI>

I also like the Real Housewives of Melbourne (I'm waiting for season 2), Seinfeld, Super Nanny, One Born Every Minute..too many to list really.

Of course then there are lots of educational shows too...like er well like Deadliest Catch.

What about you? What crazy thing are you thankful for?

- Jen